terms

Body:

I will offer terms to your family, if they will listen.

This will be hard for us, but not as hard as the worst.

I will not look at you, speak to you, or have any contact with you. And you are not to have contact with me either; all in exchange for your family's discretion, of course.

I will offer my own life, if needs be, to secure my promise. If this agreement is broken, I will subject myself to whatever punishment decided; my own life if asked, and by my own hand--the alternative a full airing of the matter. I will even resign my job at the summer--of only they will let me work until then.

Will they listen?
